

Many people had the wrong idea about the kingdom of which Jesus is King. In the circles to the right, draw a happy face next to the sentences that you think are correct. And draw a sad face next to the sentences that you think are false. Then, change the false statements about Jesus into true statements.

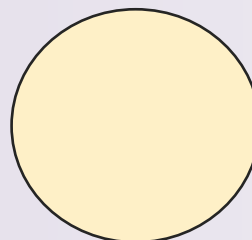

1. Jesus had a very bright crown that showed the people that he was the king.

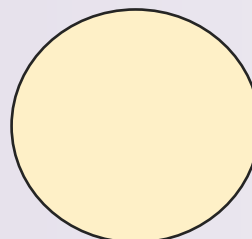

2. Jesus wore a purple robe for everyone to see so they would know he was the king.

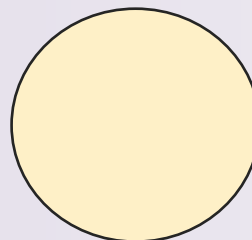

3. Jesus didn't walk; he traveled in a chariot drawn by horses, with soldiers as escorts.

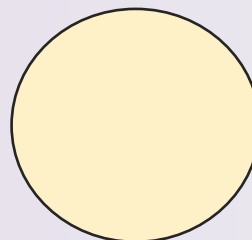

4. Jesus lived in a palace with many servants who did what he said.

5. Jesus often stayed in other people's houses, but only if they were rich and important.

6. Jesus spent most of his time talking to rich and important people.

How can you change false statements into true ones?
